10,000 AUSTRIANS DIE BEFORE SERVANTS' ATTACK
 NISSE, Servia, Aug. 26.—More than 10,000 Austrians were killed and 20,000 wounded in the nine days' battle with Servians on the river Save, according to survivors of the conflict. It was said here today that 400,000 men had taken part in the engagement, which was bloodier than any conflict in the two recent Balkan wars. Hundreds of dead bodies are floating down the Save toward the Danube.
 It is expected that remnants of the Austrian army will surrender at once, as the Servian government claims their retreat has been cut off.

AID FROM BRITISH ON WAY RAISES FRENCH SPIRITS
 few minutes after midnight the war office said: the part of the French army which is in progress between Maubeuge and the Denain. On it hangs the fate of France."
 This announcement spread terror throughout the city. Rumors were immediately circulated that the Germans had rolled back the allies, shattered their forces and were marching on Paris. This was immediately denied by the government, which is taking every possible precaution to prevent an outbreak of rioting. Public feeling is at high tension. It is known that either insubordination or cowardice was responsible for some of the early successes of the Germans in Alsace, but the actual details are being hidden by the war office.

Troops Efface Memory.
 Probably by an oversight this reference to the unfortunate affair was allowed to creep into an official document.
 The fifteenth corps, which suffered heavily in the last fight, has gaps in its ranks filled and formed part of the two armies. It executed a brilliant counter attack in the valley of the Meuse. The attitude of the troops was splendid, offering all memories of their conduct of Aug. 20."

The scene of the French troops' disgrace cannot be learned, but it is known that Gen. Pau was selected to command them after the affair occurred. He is the strictest disciplinarian in the French army.
Prince Adalbert Killed.
 It was officially stated today that Prince Adalbert, uncle of Emperor William, was killed by the French Turcos when they attacked the Prussian soldiers Monday. It is believed an error was made in stating that the slain prince was the Kaiser's uncle, however.

A later announcement by the war office said that the prince who had been killed was probably Prince Adalbert of Schleswig-Holstein.
 Travelers arriving here declare that the Turcos showed thrilling bravery and that the Germans were piled in heaps by the African troops. These travelers left before the fighting at Mons had ended, but declared that successive attacks were made by the Germans on the British troops there and that each was repulsed.
 They estimated the British casualties at 2,000, but said that the Germans lost more.

Believe British Have Disembarked.
 As the announcement of the coming of the first British troops to France was made only after they had actually landed, it is believed that today's announcement means that the English reinforcements have reached Boulogne and are disembarking.
 Today's papers print at length Lord Kitchener's statement of yesterday in which he said that England's resources and men would support the French in the conflict. One paper editorially says:

"This means that England will avenge France if we should suffer a calamity. With her wealth and naval strength she will be able to starve Germany into submission."

CORN SCHOOL NEXT YEAR TAKES DEFINITE FORM

Chamber of Progress Starts Project—Will Benefit Whole Community—To be Launched After Home Coming.

Mishawaka will in all probability have a corn school, which may be known by some other name, however, during the fall of 1915. The idea has been in the minds of the members of the Chamber of Progress for some months past, and at a meeting of this organization held Tuesday evening in the Hotel Mishawaka the matter assumed a definite shape. F. M. Barrows, president of the chamber, has been much enthused over the success which has attended similar celebrations in La Grange, and has at various times brought the matter before the attention of the local association. Monday evening he spoke to the meeting of the benefits likely to accrue to the farmers, and the city itself, by the holding of a corn show in Mishawaka at the time mentioned above. Of course, he explained, it seemed a long time off, but he believed in starting the ball rolling before the snow caught it. Should they decide to emulate La Grange the sooner they began to organize the better would the chances of success be. Such an undertaking would enhance the value of farming around this district immensely; the farmers would, he believed, eventually go deeper into the cultivation of products, and it should be the aim of the city, irrespective of any particular body of business men, to encourage the farming industry in their neighborhood. The proposed celebration should be a city affair; every one should co-operate towards its success, and he felt sure they would have the backing of the farming community in their efforts.

The president's remarks appealed to the members present, and on the motion of J. Q. Swanger, Jr., it was decided that the president call a meeting of the directors and committee of the organization to launch the project taking after the home coming week. The Columbus Glove factory, Columbus, Ohio, sent a communication enquiring after a factory site. They wanted it under the impression that they would not after any bonus. They would require 10,000 square feet of land for their factory, their payroll would be from $35,000 to $50,000 annually, and they would locate here provided they could sell a bunch of their stock in the town. Nothing doing; referred to the committee.

The Indiana Federated Commercial clubs sent a communication to the chamber to send a representative to Terre Haute to attend the annual meeting of the organization to be held in October. There was a fee attached to the invitation, which was about to be consigned to the archives of the association when Darwin Boyer urged consideration of the communication; it was an important matter, he thought the chamber would do well to send a couple of representatives to attend the meeting.

It was decided that the directors and committee consider the matter and that in the meantime the secretary be instructed to acknowledge the letter. It was agreed not to hold the next meeting during home coming week, and the date was fixed for the third Tuesday in September.

COLOR PHOTOGRAPHY IS FEATURE OF DODGE CLUB
 The postponed entertainment to the members of the Dodge club and the employees of the Dodge Manufacturing company was given Tuesday evening in the club rooms. The entertainment was a part of the program of the night the Dodge club and the Dodge Relief association amalgamated several weeks ago but owing to some trouble experienced in the time with a new stereopticon machine it was necessary to put off to a later date.
 The entertainment was a splendid success Tuesday evening and was greatly appreciated by the guests who attended and was in the nature of a new and unique stunt in the stereopticon line. Colored photography was the feature. The pictures which were used were taken in Cincinnati, Evansville, Chicago and Mishawaka, and were taken by the new natural color method. Each picture was displayed in the real colors of the original scene.

LOCAL BOYS IN BAD WITH ELKHART POLICE
 Francis Bacon, Louis Wolf, Leslie Allen and Paul Edgren, four Mishawaka young men employed at the Woollen Mills company, fell into the clutches of the Elkhart police Friday last when returning from a ten days' vacation at the Adamsville, Mich., resorts. It was charged against the youths that while coming down Christiana creek they destroyed all the fence wires that impeded their progress. They were each fined a dollar and costs and double the amount of damage done to the fences. Charles Clark, an employee of the Mishawaka Woollen mills, stood good for the amount of the fines which aggregated $52.60, and the boys were released.

NEWS-TIMES ADS. PAY BY IMMEDIATE RESULTS
 Lost Money Found—House Rents Within Few Hours—Forty Boys for One Position—Eloquent Testimony.
 That advertising in The News-Times brings results is undoubted; that it therefore pays to advertise through this medium is the unsolicited testimony of the following who have within the past few days used the Mishawaka classified columns:
 Donald Hoffer, son of the vice president of the Dodge Co., lost a pocketbook containing $27 on Saturday. He was of the opinion that he had dropped it somewhere on Lincoln highway. He inserted a "lost" advertisement in The News-Times. A few hours after the paper had come from the press he received a phone message from David Schrock, living five miles south of Oshtemo, telling him that a pocketbook had been found by the party at the phone. Young Hoffer motored out to see Mr. Schrock, identified his property and offered the finder a reward which was refused with thanks. The latter said he had read the advertisement in The News-Times.

Mrs. J. deRiekie, 421 W. Fourth st., came to The News-Times office Tuesday morning and left a classified advertisement of a house to rent. She wanted it run a week. Wednesday morning she phoned to the office to discontinue the advertisement, saying that she had rented the house to a good tenant who had seen the notice of it in Tuesday evening's paper. She had had six other inquiries to her modest classified the same evening on which it appeared. She told The News-Times to use her name in appreciation of the service.
 C. C. Hurst, manager of the five and ten cent store, inserted a two-line classified in Sunday's News-Times. He wanted to employ a handy boy. He ordered the advertisement run three times. Monday morning when he opened the store at 8 o'clock he found 40 boys waiting for him. He got the right one and ordered the advertisement discontinued.
 These are but a few instances that have come to the notice of this office since the beginning of this week.

FEATURES READY FOR HOME COMING WEEK
 Show Representative in City—Confers With Committee—Attractive Features Galore—No End to Amusement.
 W. H. Stump, special representative of the Great American shows, which have been engaged for home coming week, was in the city Wednesday consulting with the committee on entertainment. The program for the week, which will feature the celebration, and which is a most attractive one. There are fourteen paid attractions in the ensemble of the company, and this number is likely to be increased by two others. The motordrome is expected to prove a big drawing card; it is one of the largest in the country and four skilled riders will give exhibitions of skill and daring.
 Archie Parker, the champion middleweight wrestler of the world, with a congress of athletes, will give a daily exposition of the manly art and will be prepared to meet all comers.
 A cabaret show in which high class musical comedies will be presented, will doubtless attract.
 A circus side show and a "Mable" show, the latter a new and novel exhibition, will add their quota to the round of fun.
 The "busy city," a mechanical wonder, and advance vaudeville entertainment, Anderson's museum, a new minstrel show, ferris wheel, merry-go-round and ocean wave, will, it is said, be great drawing features.
 Three feature free acts will also be given daily during the celebration.
 Prof. Zeng's royal Italian band will give daily concerts. The concessions will be numerous and of the right sort.
 The advance agent says the company's shows are clean, in every respect, and that the people who travel with them have been drilled in the art of being ladies and gentlemen.
 There is some talk of having a manufacturers' exhibit in the old Methodist church, in which will be displayed many of the products of Mishawaka. The window dressing competition is meeting with much enthusiasm and encouragement.
 As the time approaches Sept. 7-12, the home coming is on the tongues of all Mishawaka, and already accommodations for quarters for the entire week, is being inquired after.

SEVERAL NEW CANDIDATES.
 At a big meeting of the Loyal Order of Moose held Tuesday evening in the lodge rooms several new candidates were taken in. Mayor Ralph W. Gaylor, who was delegated to the national convention of Moose at Milwaukee several weeks ago, gave a report.

PERHAPS THE MOST ENTHUSIASTIC meeting of football men ever held in Mishawaka was successfully assembled at the business establishment of Leon Tollens Tuesday evening. All of the former players of last year were present while a number of new recruits put in appearance and will be given try outs for this year's squad. The meeting was called to order by Mr. Tollens and the first matter before the gathering was the election of officers. Following the election the names and colors will be maroon and white. The team will be given the support of the Kamm and Schellinger Brewing company of this city. A new feature to the costumes this fall will be the addition of blue, maroon and white. These coats will be used by the players in practice work and for dress purposes before and after the games.
 Vargo, the all star of the South Bend Indians and said to be one of the best football players in this section of the state, attended the meeting and will be seen in the line-up this fall. Vargo is well known in both South Bend and Mishawaka and was captain of the Huebners last year. He is a fast man and one of the best behind the line and the Mishawaka officials are greatly elated in securing him. Brown, another fast new man, has been secured and will start Tuesday evening. Brown is well known here but this will be his first appearance in football in Mishawaka for several years. He formerly played with the Wabash A.C.'s. He comes here well recommended and much expected with the addition of these two new players. The officials also claim they have several other new men selected and if possible they will secure them. It is expected that year to have the crack semi-pro squad in the state. Several of the old players will be retained as they proved their worth in years past.
 Arrangements were completed Tuesday evening by the directors and to secure the north side baseball park for the games this fall. The park will be placed in condition for football contests as soon as the schedules for the baseball team are finished. Sidelines will be constructed with new markings so that it will be possible for the fans to watch every move.
 All games will be played at home excepting the schedule between the Fort Wayne Friars which will be a game at home and one at Fort Wayne. Some of the best teams in the state will be secured right off the start and Manager Wilke is now corresponding with the Chicago Cornells for the opening game. The date for the opening of the season in Mishawaka has not yet been set but it was decided to start first practice next Tuesday evening on the indoor diamonds just north of the central fire station. Another meeting will also be held next Tuesday evening.
 The following were the officers elected Tuesday evening for this year's squad: Carl Wilke, manager; George Wernitz, captain; Frank DeLore, secretary, and Leon Tollens, treasurer.

HUNDREDS OF FANS ARE EXPECTED AT BIG GAME
 Enthusiasm is reaching a fever heat in Mishawaka in anticipation of the big game next Saturday afternoon between the South Bend Singer Co. club and the Ball Band club of this city, at the Singer Co. stadium in South Bend. The local officials of the game for the Ball Bands are making big arrangements to care for the fans on that day. Twelve cars have been chartered to convey the fans. The first car will be banneted and will carry the Mishawaka Woollen Co. band.
 This will be the biggest contest of the year and the deciding game in regard to who is to win the league. The Ball Bands to tie for first place and the pennant will be necessary for them to win the game Saturday afternoon. In the event that they are the victors they will then try at the pennant with the Singers later in the year.
